Season One of Paragon: The Shadow Wars, (six 45-min episodes) is co-directed and co-written by Justin Price (Wrong Place, Wrong Time; The Mummy Rebirth, Almost Amazing, The Cloth), Khu (Dark Cupid, Snare) and Franziska Schissler (Prod: Wrong Place, Wrong Time, Actor: Debbie and the Devil, Hollow Bedrooms, Soul Hunters, The Dawnseeker) and produced by Price and Schissler. Paragon: The Shadow Wars, made in association with Baby Monster Entertainment and Pikchure Zero, first dropped on Amazon Prime on December 31, 2020 and has been announced to release on Tubi and the SyFy channel in the next months.

In a world where Reapers take souls and demons bargain with humans for their place among the food chain, a new descendent named Jael has emerged to stop Death's plan to reset the world. What ensues is a wildly exciting adventure around the globe and beyond and a relentless fight against the evil forces to preserve what's left of our humanity.

"It's been such an amazing journey bringing this mystical world to life. I feel very blessed to have been able to film and travel over the world and take in aspects of each country and culture and have them feed into the storytelling. I had dreamt of visiting some of these spots since I was a kid. We got to shoot in the US, Germany, Cambodia, Japan and Iceland, and it was one great adventure. So grateful to have a legend like Danny on board who was an absolute pleasure to work with," said series creator, Justin Price.
